

UPPER BODY SUPPORT DEVICE

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An upper body support device includes a thoracic support region comprising a spinal region having a convex arcuate section on an upper surface thereof to properly position a user's shoulders with respect to the users head, cervical and spinal region.